

Responsibilities of the holder of burial rights

Islamic cemetery, Lilla Aska graveyard

Responsibilities of the holder of burial rights

The holder of burial rights is responsible for keeping the grave site in an orderly and dignified condition, and for ensuring that the gravestone has been securely erected. Only the holder of burial rights has the right to apply to have a gravestone erected.

All waste must be deposited at the waste sorting stations located in the area.

The graveyard staff is responsible for maintenance of the unborn infants' grove and the public spaces in the graveyard.

Decoration of grave sites

The permitted area for decoration is 50 centimetres in front of the gravestone and the full width of the grave.

The grave site is located on a continuous grassy area that may not be covered or marked off in any way.

Unborn infants' grove

Unborn infants are buried in the grassy area, and the site is indicated with a simple stone marker. Gravestones, name plates or similar objects may not be erected on this site. Decoration with cut flowers and candles may only be placed at the indicated spot for decorations.
